

Pine Option for Log Furniture

Most of the pictures in our log furniture catalogs are shown in aspen. However, we can also build any of the products in a pine variation called “blue-stain” or “beetle-kill” pine. Furniture built in pine features the same high quality components, attractive rustic designs, attention to detail, and hand-applied finishes as with our aspen products.

Blue-stain pine refers to the rich and attractive blue and gray hues that run through certain pine woods. This coloration is caused by beetles that attack and eventually kill the tree, hence the name “beetle-kill” pine. Like the aspen tree, blue-stain pine is cut “dead-standing” with no living trees being used. This allows Mountain Woods Furniture to manufacture beautiful furniture with an environmentally friendly process.

Some customers prefer pine furniture because they like the look of the wood, or the color complements their decor. We are pleased to offer this option on all of our log furniture pieces.
